An area of heavy rain may lead to surface water flooding and transport disruption

What to expect

- Bus and train services probably affected with journey times taking longer
- Spray and flooding on roads probably making journey times longer

Further details

A band of heavy rain will push into the southwest through Friday night which may be heavy enough at times to lead to some surface water flooding.

During this time, 20-30 mm is likely across the area, with as much as 40-50 mm across parts of Dartmoor and along the south coast of Cornwall.

During Saturday morning, the rain band moves east but is followed by organised bands of some possibly heavy showers into Cornwall and Devon, which may add to rainfall totals.
